PUPPY PASSPORT / FREE TOOLKIT

Breeder setup workbook

Organize the earliest records before a litter is handed over

Practical planning support only. Not a veterinary diagnosis, official registration or legally recognized travel passport.

1. Prepare a puppy record before the litter arrives

Know what to record from day one

[ ] 1. List the adults responsible for each puppy's records

[ ] 2. Agree on one naming convention and date format

[ ] 3. Prepare a private folder for source documents and photos

[ ] 4. Decide how corrections and missing details will be handled

Open this tool online:
https://puppypassport.theknowledgeformula.com/tools/prepare-a-puppy-record-before-the-litter-arrives

2. Set up a litter information sheet

Keep the litter's shared details in one place

[ ] 1. Record the litter name and the dam and sire details you can substantiate

[ ] 2. Add the birth date and the source of that date

[ ] 3. Identify which care instructions apply to the whole litter

[ ] 4. Mark information still awaiting confirmation instead of guessing

Open this tool online: https://puppypassport.theknowledgeformula.com/tools/set-up-a-litter-information-sheet

3. Create a first puppy photo plan

Capture useful progress without taking hundreds of photos

[ ] 1. Choose consistent safe photo locations and lighting

[ ] 2. Write down each puppy's visible identification cues

[ ] 3. Plan weekly photographs without disrupting rest or care

[ ] 4. Keep original files and record the date and photographer

Open this tool online: https://puppypassport.theknowledgeformula.com/tools/create-a-first-puppy-photo-plan

4. Organize puppy identity evidence

Separate observed identity from independent confirmation

[ ] 1. List every identifier and who supplied it

[ ] 2. Keep scan or implant documentation private and correctly attributed

[ ] 3. Note the issuing registry or veterinarian when known

[ ] 4. Mark reported, documented and independently checked evidence distinctly

Open this tool online:
https://puppypassport.theknowledgeformula.com/tools/organize-puppy-identity-evidence

5. Design a clean breeder workflow

Make the next useful action obvious to every team member

[ ] 1. Assign a responsible contributor for each puppy

[ ] 2. Choose the three fields that matter most before handover

[ ] 3. Put secondary data collection behind an optional step

[ ] 4. Review any missing records once a week

Open this tool online:
https://puppypassport.theknowledgeformula.com/tools/design-a-clean-breeder-workflow